(1817) There are two manors in Mapleton: one of these belonged at an early period to the Bassetts of Blore, whose heiress brought it to William Cavendish, Duke of Newcastle. It was sold by his descendants, in 1757, to Thomas Rivett, Esq., of whom it was purchased by the Rev. John Taylor, L.L.D., of Ashborne. [Magna Britannia]

(Derby All Saints) To perpetuate the memory of a man whose virtues were revered by all who knew him, this monument is erected by Anna Maria the widow of the late Thomas Rivett, Esq. in testimony of her true affection, and from a full sense of the excellence of his heart, who died in the year 1763, and rests in the chancel of this Church, with a joyful hope of a blessed resurrection. Four of his children, Elisabeth Carnac, Frances Ravenscroft, Peter Sibley Rivett, and James Rivett Carnac, have alas! followed him to the grave. ' Cold death o'ertook them in their blooming years, ' And left a wretched mother unavailing tears.' Arms. — " A. 3 bars S. in chief 3 trevets of the last." Rivett. On an escutcheon of pretence — " Ermine a Griffin int. 3 crescents, G. "
